Every Citizen
Should Be Ready Nov. 21
To Give To The Limit For Welfare Chest

FROM Wednesday, November 21, to and including Saturday, November 24, is the time specified for the drive for funds for the Glendale Community Welfare Chest.

During these four days it is planned to call on every citizen in Glendale for a subscription and every one in the city should give to this fund according to his or her circumstances, but regardless of the amount contributed, all should have a part in the work.

The funds raised will be used for the support of all the worthwhile welfare organizations of Glendale without any thought of sect or creed. We have written several times about a community chest, starting as far back as last February, to tell you about its success in other localities.

WHILE we have no desire to tire you by harping on any one subject, we feel that the inauguration of a chest will increase not only efficiency in giving but also take care of the beneficiaries much better than under the old plan of having separate drives.

If all citizens will give this matter some thought between now and November 21, when the drive starts, so as to be able to tell the solicitors just what they are going to give, the drive will go through in record time and the budget of $40,000 will be either raised or over-subscribed.

THE IDEA of a community chest originated during the war chest years in operation and their success suggested the community chest. At the present time 123 cities have chests in operation and many other cities are now considering establishing one.

The idea has passed the experimental stage and has become an established method of financing social agencies by combining their budgets into one and having an every-citizen drive once a year.

THERE ARE many advantages to this plan and few if any objectionable features. So give the matter some thought and when you are called on for a subscription be ready to sign your name to a definite amount and don't compel the solicitor to call again.

CITY SCHOOLS TO CLOSE

MONDAY, ALSO ON NOV. 30
At a special meeting of members of the board of education held Wednesday noon, the vote was unanimous to close the city schools on Monday, November 12, to be observed as Armistice Day; also to close them on the Friday following Thanksgiving.

Mrs. A. A. Barton was elected secretary pro tem until Mrs. Arthur C. Brown, who is ill, recovers sufficiently to resume her duties.

LEGION BUSY ON ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM

Engine for New Electric Line in L. A.; Welcomed Here Tomorrow

ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION PLANNED

Colossal Parade, Games of Various Kinds and Legion Dance

The American Legion boys, aided of course by Ernest Tucker of Community Service and all others whom they desired to assist, have outlined a wonderful program for Armistice Day, which will be observed this year on Monday, November 12. It was only five years ago next Sunday that the glad news came from the torn battlefields of France that an armistice had been agreed upon to take effect at 11 o'clock on the 11th day of the 11th month, and the whole nation went into a delirium of joy, for mothers who had given their boys to fight for a world free from autocratic domination knew that soon these loved ones would be restored to their longing arms. And surely it is meet that these same boys, now members of the American Legion should lead in putting on a big program for the observance of this day that meant so much to them, their loved ones, the nation and all the countries of the world. So here is how it is to be done.

A great parade will form at 10 a. m. to start from Cedar and Broadway, with the Scouts' band leading. Participating in this will be American Legion Post No. 127 and its Auxiliary, N. P. Banks Post of the G. A. R. and Women's Relief Corps, Spanish War Veterans and Auxiliary, California National Guard company, City of officials, Police department, Fire department, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and any other organizations that may offer themselves later, through Ernest Tucker of Community Service, in Chamber of Commerce building, phone Glendale 3070.

Those who can furnish autos for conveyance of G. A. R. and W. R. C. members should notify him, also.

The parade moves west on Broadway to Brand, north to Wilson then back on Brand to Colorado, east to High school grounds, where a program of sports will be given, beginning at 1:30 p. m. There will be a push ball game between a Legion team and one organized by Coach Hayhurst, 25 men to a side. This will be followed by a foot ball game between Glendale High and Van Nuys High teams. In the early evening will be a basket ball game between a Legion team and one of some other organization. The day's activities will close with the Legion dance at the Tuesday Afternoon club house.

THOMAS BRIDGES WEDS MISS HESTER THOMAS, AT CLUB

Sunset Canyon club house qualified last Saturday evening as an all-around home for its members when it provided the setting for the wedding of Miss Hester Davis and Thomas Bridges which was celebrated at 7 o'clock, with Rev. Hamilton Lash, pastor of the Hollywood Congregational church, officiating. The ceremony was performed under a canopy of roses and ferns and in front of the big fireplace which had been draped with an American flag. The bride was gown in white georgette crepe trimmed with pearl beading, her head-dress was of baby roses and maidenhair fern, and she carried pale pink bride roses tied with chiffon. The bridegroom was supported by I. H. Alvord, president of the club, as best man, Mrs. Alvord being matron of honor. Dorothy Steelman and Loretta Schwitters also attended the bride, carrying sweet peas with chiffon streamers. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, A. W. Redfern. Applauding followed the ceremony at which covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Alvord, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kiebert, Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Steelman, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Schwitters, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Tremain, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pearce, Mrs. Justine Hautman, Mr. and Mrs. G. McGee, and Dr. Hamilton Lash. Mr. and Mrs. Bridges were presented with a beautiful silver coffee service, Mr. Alvord making the presentation speech to which the bridegroom responded. Following a short honeymoon the Bridges will reside at Sunset club of which Mr. Bridges is secretary and general manager and of which Mrs. Bridges has been the social secretary.

NEW MEANINGS MAKE OUR BIBLE BOOK OF THE AGES

REV. PHILIP K. KEMP
Rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church

The plan of printing the translation of the New Testament by Prof. Edgar F. Goodspeed is a very good one. As an editorial in a widely-read religious weekly recently put it, "Language is a fluid thing. It never remains unchanged for a decade. New forms of speech emerge and familiar words become archaic." This is the reason why new versions of the Bible are necessary. Many a passage takes on new meaning with a different rendering. The ever-new and valuable meanings that we find in the Bible is what makes it the book of the Ages. The plan to bring this to attention of people and stimulate study is always commendable. I have not made a careful examination of this latest translation, but the translator's standing in the world of scholarship insures a work of merit in the field of Biblical interpretation.

GLENDALE HIGH STAGES ATHLETIC CONTESTS GALORE

Boxing Matches for the Boys, Volley Ball for Girls

The effort at Glendale High appears to be to distribute the big social affairs with a sufficient interval to get ready and recover. The boys' stag party under this policy has been set for January 12. The program as arranged by the committee appointed by the Boys League of which Arden Gentry is president will include various athletic contests including boxing matches, and Harold Brewster, head of the dramatic department will help with readings of a character likely to endear him to his audience. The affair will be held in the boys' gym.

Under the volley ball program for girls of Glendale High a series of games with other schools will be played during the next two weeks. In the first of these games wherein the girls' high school team was matched against that of Wilson Intermediate, and which was played Wednesday afternoon, the honors were with the high school, in the close score of 15-6 to 15-4.

THIS WAS JUDGE HARRY W. CHASE'S VERY BUSY DAY

Among the actions decided in the court of Judge Harry W. Chase on Wednesday was the case of A. F. Nicholson vs. Raymond D. Shelley, who was sued for $50 for damages to a machine Nicholson sold Shelley. The defendant returned the machine and rescinded his contract, claiming he was only 19 years of age. Judge Chase ruled in favor of the defendant because he had not attained his majority.

In the case of George H. King against Frank Kaiser to recover $70 for damages to a machine owned by plaintiff injured in a collision at the corner of Adams and Broadway, October 8, judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $48.75.

In the case of Martin E. Swanson against A. F. Knox, it was proved that defendant had defaulted in payments on an auto purchased from Swanson. Judgment was given in favor of the plaintiff who was awarded the car and $25 attorney's fees.

MEMBERS OF CITY COUNCIL RECEIVE COURT SUMMONS

Hatfields Strike Back for Revocation of Auto Camp License

Again have members of the city council of Glendale been called upon to defend the legality of their actions in the courts of Los Angeles county. This time it is in connection with the revocation of the permit held by F. H. Hatfield to operate an auto camp known as the Community Camp. The revocation, under the resolution passed by the council on October 11, was to become effective November 10.

On Tuesday, November 6, W. Claire Anspach, attorney for F. H. Hatfield, filed in the superior court the petition of his client for a writ of review against the city of Glendale and the council of the city of Glendale as respondents and the writ was issued on that date by Judge Charles S. Crail. He further issued an order addressed to Spencer Robinson, S. A. Davis, C. E. Kimlin, Asa Hall and W. A. Horn, comprising the council of the city of Glendale, to show cause on Friday, November 9, at 10 a. m. in Department 25 in the superior court, why, pending action of the court on the writ of review, all proceedings in the matter referred to in the verified petition should not be stayed.

This order was served on the five city councilmen, November 6 and the writ of review has been set for hearing November 16 in Department 25.

This means that no action to enforce the revocation of the auto camp permit can be taken until decision is rendered following the hearing of the writ of review and the determination by the court of the legality of the council's proceedings on the night of October 11.

The petition asking for the writ of review recites that "the proceedings of the city council in revoking the license of petitioner to conduct an automobile camp were and are irregular, illegal, and void for the following reasons:

"1. The city of Glendale has no power by its charter to revoke an occupation license for cause.

"2. Adequate legal notice was not given petitioner and the proceedings herein mentioned were judicial in character and subject to legal rules as to due process of law, and especially as to due notice.

"3. The pretended revocation affects the property and the rights of petitioner who is a citizen of the United States and a resident of the state of California, and was based only on the notice as set forth in full above.

"4. Petitioner made proper objection to the invalidity of said notice but his objection was improperly overruled, and his license revoked."

The writ of review by Judge Crail declares in due legal phraseology that it appears to the court that the council of the city of Glendale without authority adopted the resolution purporting to revoke the license or permit granted to F. H. Hatfield to conduct an automobile camp, which said proceeding was "in excess of the jurisdiction" of the council for the reasons cited above in the petition under paragraphs numbered 1, 2, 3, 4. The council is therefore commanded to return to the court on the 16th of November, a full, true and correct transcript of all the papers, records and files, including the proceedings of said council in the matter of the revocation of the license of F. H. Hatfield in order that the same may be reviewed by the court and such action be taken thereon as of right should be taken and done."

In brief, the court will undertake to determine whether or not the proceedings of the city council in connection with the revocation of the permit of F. H. Hatfield, were illegal, as contended by Mr. Anspach, attorney for the petitioner.

It was the contention of Attorney Anspach at the hearing before the city council October 11 when the resolution revoking the permit was passed, that the city council in neglecting to pass an ordinance regulating auto camps and prescribing what they should and should not do, as recommended by the former city attorney (and now judge), Hartley Shaw, had not given legal and sufficient notice to his clients, Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield, of what was expected of them; that with no definite ordinance for their guidance and pro-

BIBLE IS OLDEST YET MOST MODERN OF BOOKS; READ IT

REV. LEO C. KLINE
Pastor Central Ave. Methodist Church

The Glendale Daily Press is to be commended in its plan to publish in its columns the oldest and yet most modern of books. The Bible has been the very foundation of American ideals and institutions. In so far as our nation has adhered to its precepts in so far as it attained greatness. The Bible contains the remedy for the ills of the world; it is well for our people to be familiar with it. It is also the source of comfort, of inspiration, of enlightenment to multitudes. It reveals a compassionate Father, a tender and loving Savior and an ever-present helper and leader—the Holy Spirit. A modern version is easy to read and understand. I take pleasure in adding a word of approval to the plan of the Daily Press to give to its readers this splendid service.

NEW PLAYGROUND FOR L.A. BIG ASSET TO GLENDAL CITY

To Be Located Just South of L. A. River and West of Ivanhoe

Los Angeles is now preparing to establish one of the finest playgrounds in Southern California not far from Glendale.

The Los Angeles Park board yesterday passed a resolution turning a twenty-two acre site over to the Los Angeles Playground commission.

The new playground, which will have the form of a parallelogram, will be located on the north side of Riverside drive and on the east side of Los Feliz road—just south of the Los Angeles river.

P. J. Hayseiden, of 961 South Glendale avenue, chairman of the highway and bridge committee of the Chamber of Commerce, is enthusiastic about the proposed new playground and believes that it will be a wonderful asset for Glendale.

"This is to be developed into a playground in Los Angeles," he asserted this morning. "It will have baseball diamonds, tennis courts, two large swimming pools and a straight-away cinder track. A resident superintendent will live on the premises. Probably $100,000 will be spent in improvement. I do not know when work will be started, but believe it will be rushed through as fast as possible."

City Manager W. H. Reeves received the announcement of the proposed new playground this morning with much interest. It is believed that Alfred J. Barnes of Hollywood deserves much credit for its promotion. Although he owns no property in this community, he is reported to be a strong booster for Glendale.

He said that he had no encouragement to risk large sums in improvements when drastic legislation might be passed which would put them out of business. He reminded the council of the fact, also set forth in the petition, that under the terms of the Hatfield lease, which has 3 1/2 years to run, in the event of permit being revoked all buildings and other improvements become the property of the lessor, declaring the council could not legally destroy the property rights of his client without recourse. The same challenge to the city council appears to feature the writ of review issued by Judge Crail.

When interviewed in regard to the matter, Attorney Anspach said: "Whatever I have to say in this matter will be said before the superior court when the writ of review is heard. However, as to the proceedings of the city council in this matter I might quote the 'district court of appeals of the state of California in a decision rendered as late as 1915 in which that court said:

"Official illegality is quite as reprehensible as private violations of the law. The law of the land must be accepted by every one as the only one which can be allowed to govern the liberties of a citizen, whatever may be his ill desert."

In answer to the question, "Has the city council then no right to revoke a permit?" Mr. Anspach answered, "Certainly it has the right, but it should do it in a legal way."

THAT NEW ENGINE IS IN LOS ANGELES; HERE TOMORROW

Glendale Will Give It an Uproarious Welcome at Dawn

The electric locomotive which was built in Pennsylvania for the Glendale-Montrose railway and which, after posing for several days at Atlantic City, New Jersey, where its unique emblemmation interested thousands, made a triumphal cross-continental tour decked with banners announcing it was on its way to Glendale, the fastest growing city in the United States, is now in Los Angeles and will reach Glendale at dawn tomorrow. The bulletin do not state whether or not it has been named the Lark, but anyway, a reception committee from the chamber of commerce headed by Percy J. Hayseiden, has been assigned the privilege of welcoming it to the city. Efforts have been made all day to locate Percy who is modestly keeping out of the way, apparently, though usually he does not dodge honors.

W. C. REITH HOME FROM EUROPEAN TOUR OF 5 MONTHS

Found Conditions in Germany Very Bad; Other Nations Bad

W. C. Reith of 1101 East Wilson avenue returned Monday from a five months' tour of Europe in which he did some very valuable research work for the cement industry. Mr. Reith accompanied C. Leonard, president of the Portland Cement company, of which Mr. Reith is chief and consulting engineer. The five months was spent in research work for the cement industry and they were successful in obtaining valuable data. Although the Cement Association of the United States has sent several representatives the data obtained was new.

The company with which Mr. Reith is associated plans to begin the construction of a cement plant in Texas which they aim to make the finest in the world. From the research work done by Mr. Reith his company will be able to manufacture three grades of Portland cement, one of which is a super-cement that is said to have many times the strength of the ordinary Portland cement on the market.

Mr. Reith found conditions in Germany deplorable. He says, "In view of the intense suffering which there will be there this winter, I prophesy one of the worst revolutions history has ever known. The conditions are almost identical to those of 1813. Many other countries are also suffering, owing to the decline of Germany. I am firmly convinced, as are many of the Americans I met while abroad, that France does not seek the reparations payments but rather the dismemberment and ruin of Germany, which of course works a hardship on the whole civilized world."

SUPERVISOR, WITH DR. YOUNG, VIEWS BURNED SECTION

This morning County Supervisor Wright of this district was the guest and passenger of Dr. T. C. Young in a flight over the burnt section of the Verdugo hills which enabled Mr. Wright to get a clear idea of the denuding of this area by the recent conflagration. After descending the hill met members of the chamber of commerce committee on fire protection and flood control of which Lyman P. Clark is chairman, and said he realized the necessity for immediate action to prevent flood waters from the hills coming down and depositing a lot of sediment on the streets of Glendale. He declared he stood ready to do everything possible to secure the building of check-dams in the canyons to hold back the sediment and take such other action as might seem to be necessary. He arranged with the committee to meet the officials of the county flood control commission Friday in Los Angeles to discuss the matter.

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK ON PAINT, WELFARE CHEST

Ernest Ford Tells of Visit to Neighbor Club, Other Business Held

A talk on paints—no, not cosmetics—by "Bill" Hunter, proprietor of the Glendale Paint and Paper company of 119 South Brand boulevard was a feature of the weekly luncheon today in Jensen's Egyptian Village of the Rotary club.

President George B. Karr of 1725 South Brand boulevard presided. Guests included Luther G. Reynolds and J. R. Knapp, both of Los Angeles, and Henry J. Priest of Grand Forks, North Dakota.

The crippled children's library, which is being established by the club, was the subject of a short discussion. The necessity of bringing books to stock it was emphasized.

Community Service called attention, through a letter from its secretary, R. H. Tucker, to the entertainment to be given Tuesday night in the High school auditorium under the auspices of the Exchange club.

Rotarian W. E. Hewitt of 319 East Randolph street, director of the Community Welfare chest campaign, explained the progress of the establishment of a Welfare chest in Glendale.

Rev. E. E. Ford, pastor of the Baptists Church, reported upon his visit last week in the Sunset Canyon Country club with the Burbank Rotarians. He complimented the neighboring club highly.

Sgt. Rene Olin of 154 South Brand boulevard announced that the last four meetings of the club have been 100 per cent in attendance.

WELFARE CHEST COMMITTEE IN OFFICIAL MEET

Members of the Budget and Endorsement committee of Community Welfare chest, composed of R. F. Kitterman, chairman, Rev. Clifford Cole and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, met this morning at the Chamber of Commerce. Representatives of various organizations desiring to be included in the list of beneficiaries appeared before them and recommendations were formulated which will be presented tonight to directors of the chest for approval or amendment.

Tomorrow night precinct captains have been summoned by George Kerr to meet at the chamber when maps showing the territory each is expected to cover, will probably be distributed. When this has been done and a definite budget adopted by the directors, details can be worked out for the drive which is to begin November 19 and last for one week.

At the regular meeting of the Glendale camp, Spanish-American War Veterans, held Wednesday night, the vote to march in the Armistice Day parade Monday, November 12, was unanimous, and all veterans of the Spanish-American war are invited to march with the veterans, whether members of the camp or not.

Five new members were admitted, viz: Capt. F. J. Lipstreu of 637 North Maryland avenue; George W. Cole of 626 East Chestnut street; John Clark of 236 South Cedar; Ralph Handel of 1428 South Glendale avenue; and Charles S. Vose of San Fernando and Western. Captain Lipstreu and Ralph Handel have had thirty years' service in the United States army and are now retired.

Private Cole is just back from the Philippines and had interesting information to give concerning conditions there and the war of insurrection of its cause was the blunder it was considered General Wood made in sending Filipinos to rule over the Moros, who are regarded as a race superior to the Filipinos and who considered it an indignity to be ruled by inferiors. It was generally considered, he said, that if white men had been sent, there would have been no insurrection, but now considerable blood will have to be shed to quell it.

The auxiliary also had a business meeting, but there was no joint social session.

THE WEATHER

Southern California: Fair tonight and Friday; moderate southwest winds.

DAMAGED

DR. BOWERS' TALK TO PHYSICIANS' CLUB LAST WEEK

Matters of considerable moment to the public, as well as to the medical profession, were ably discussed by Dr. Paul E. Bowers in his address to the Glendale Physicians' club at the luncheon in the Egyptian Village cafe last Wednesday. Under the heading of "Relationship of Mental Defects to Crime," it was brought out that many of the mentally sick are held by the courts to be responsible for crimes committed and sent to prison or the gallows when they should be committed to special hospitals for the criminal insane. On the other hand, numerous cases occur where a clever criminal evades a penitentiary sentence by a plea of insanity.

It was shown that much of this could be prevented by having a special hospital for the criminal insane, the patient to remain in custody until recovered. This would care for the cases that are really insane and eliminate the malingerer, since it would afford no prospect of release. An illustration from Dr. Bowers' experience was given in which the son of a state prisoner on trial for murder looked over the hospital and on questioning the superintendent about the possibility of release was told that patients were not released until recovered. He at once decided that to be equivalent to a life sentence and declared he would advise his father to plead guilty to manslaughter and serve his time.

The cost to the state of the criminal insane was clearly brought out in a search of the records in Indiana which showed 100 mental defectives to have been tried and sentenced to prison eight times. Since the cost to the state was, on the average, $1000 for each conviction, the trial alone of these defectives cost the state $800,000, which could have been saved by the simple measure of having a board of alienists examine them. They could then be placed in special hospitals and permanently detained unless evidence of recovery was clear.

Another aspect of the problem presented was the hereditary one. It was brought out that 70 to 90 per cent of insanity is hereditary, and 60 per cent of feeble-mindedness is hereditary.

With definite mental defectives cared for in institutions these factors for the propagation of insanity, feeble-mindedness, and crime would cease to operate. Highlighting to an amazing extent the future problem of the state in caring for the potentially insane, feeble-minded and criminal children of these abnormal individuals.

It was brought out that under the system in operation in our penal institutions at present many of these individuals on the border-line of insanity, so called psychopathic individuals, are detained a short time only to be released to perpetrate new crimes on the communities unfortunate enough to receive them.

An eloquent appeal for a special institution to care for these criminal insane was made in closing the address.

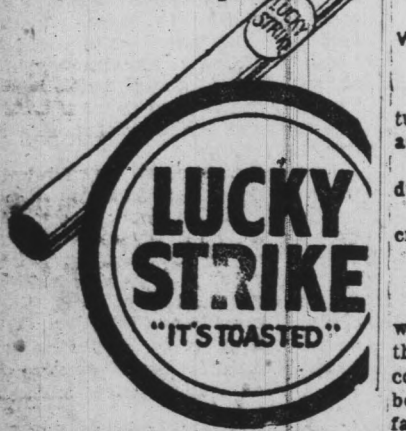

The next meeting of the Glendale Physicians' club will be Thursday, November 8, at 8 p. m. in the Glendale Union High school building. The speaker will be Dr. H. G. Brainerd of Los Angeles.

PERSONAL AND LOCAL ITEMS

Rev. Clifford Cole was the speaker at two of yesterday's sessions of the State Sunday school convention which is being held at Whittier this week.

Mrs. Anita K. Anderson and son, Horace Anderson, will entertain at their guests at an informal dinner party on Friday night at their home at 131 West Magnolia avenue the members of the staff of the "Stylus," the Glendale high school annual.

WAGES HERE AND ABROAD

THE American factory worker is receiving wages the purchasing power of which is above the wages paid in any other country of the world. The British Ministry of Labor has made a computation of the amount of food which the wages of workers in different cities of the world will purchase. In the following table the purchasing power of wages in London is taken as 100, and the purchasing power of wages in other cities is shown as percentages of this figure. The table indicates that the worker in New York can buy more than twice as much food with his wages than can the worker in London, while the worker in Berlin or Vienna can buy only a little more than half as much with his daily wage as the worker in London, or only one-fourth as much as the worker in New York:

An important factor in the differences between the rewards of workers is that the productivity of the American worker has been greatly increased through the use of large investments of capital for machinery. —Journal of the American Bankers Association.

WHAT AGRICULTURE NEEDS

A recent summary of the agricultural situation grouped the needs as follows:

1. Increased and balanced production.
2. Increased understanding of credit facilities.
3. Increased market facilities.
4. Better business methods.

The Agricultural Colleges are working out production problems, the banks the credit problems and co-operative associations appear to be greatly improving marketing facilities and business methods.

Red Cross Aid to Disabled Ex-Service Men Increasing

DISABLED VETERANS IN HOSPITALS RECEIVE INDIVIDUAL AID FROM RED CROSS WORKERS

Washington—Five years after the armistice ending the World War, reports of American Red Cross services in behalf of the men who wore the uniform of the United States refute any belief which might exist that the wounds of that conflict are nearly healed. In urging an increase in membership enrollment during the Red Cross Roll Call opening on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, facts convincingly supported by authoritative statistics are issued by the national organization showing that assistance was extended by the Red Cross to about 200,000 former service men or their families, and 62,296 instances of definite and specialized aid to men in hospitals were noted in the past year.

In all hospitals 34,793 soldier patients were registered, while from March to October dispensaries and out-patient clinics gave 44,845 treatments and 22,309 examinations. On Sept. 1 there were 73,276 former service men undergoing vocational training, all of which indicates that the Red Cross in supplementing the work of the government physicians and nurses by helping to make the patient contented, by allaying worry over his family, furnishing personal services and providing recreation and entertainment, has an increasingly large work to do in this paramount activity.

In this activity $5,866,255 was expended by Red Cross Chapters and the national organization during the last year.

One problem in which the Red Cross alone is meeting a financial demand is that of the transient disabled ex-service man and his family who must be cared for while traveling from place to place. In personal loans and grants to these travelers $138,334.71 was spent during the year. The variety of Red Cross service also embraces straightening out complicated claims, supplying recreational equipment to veterans' training centers, furnishing capital loans to blind veterans that enable them to begin business, hospital service, medical social service, information service recreation and entertainment.

Many a good design has been turned out by a mean architect.

—By Terry GOLDEN RULE SUNDAY, DEC. 2, IS ENDORSED

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—President Coolidge in a letter made public today by Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of Near East Relief, endorses the plan for observing December 2 as International Golden Rule Sunday.

Plans for the day, as outlined by a recent international conference in Geneva, call upon people of 14 different countries to serve a menu in their homes similar to that served in orphanages in the Near East, the difference in cost of the orphanage menu and the ordinary meal to be contributed to orphanage work overseas.

The President's letter says: "It is with a good deal of satisfaction that I commend your proposal to observe an International Golden Rule Dinner Sunday, on the second of December, 1923. I feel sure that this suggestion will meet with very widespread approval and will bring more closely to mind the charitable requirements of those who are prosperous to those who are in adversity. It suggests not only a practical method for help, but the highest expression of sympathy, by sharing for a time the privations of others."

"Cordially yours," "CALVIN COOLIDGE."

Mr. Vickrey said that among the notable people abroad, who will cooperate to give the day an international aspect are ex-Premier Clemenceau, Prince Carl of Sweden; Dr. Fridtjof Nansen; Premier Gontas of Greece; M. Paul Hymans and Mlle. Alice Masaryk, daughter of the president of Czechoslovakia.

"We expect that the day will be observed by twenty million people," he said. "Governors, senators and other men prominent in national and state affairs, fraternal organizations, business firms, and churches have already endorsed."

"The observance is very appropriately fixed for the Sunday following Thanksgiving. Having on Thursday partaken bountifully from well laden tables and rejoiced in our own prosperity, it is fitting that on the following Sunday we give some special consideration to the needs and distress of those who are less highly favored."

"Luxurious living and self-indulgence may be as injurious to the prosperous as undernourishment and starvation are to the less fortunate."

"America has contributed more to the preservation of the childhood of Europe and Asia than any other nation. In American orphanages in the Levant there are now more than 50,000 children, not only have no fathers and mothers, but as refugees from Anatolia they have no country. There are at least 95,000 other orphans and half-orphans in the refugee camps for whom some provision must be made if they are not to perish during the coming winter."

"When people break bread together, they become friends. On this International Golden Rule Sunday people of all nations figuratively will gather around the same table, partaking of the same food representing the menu which the unfortunate children of the Near East hope, by the benevolence of the west, to eat 365 days in the year. But even this simple menu the orphans cannot have unless the rest of the world in some measure practices the Golden Rule and shares prosperity with these children of adversity."

"These children, in considerable measure, embody the future of the Near East. By the international application of the principles of the Golden Rule in dealing with these orphan children we may be able to avoid international strife and disastrous warfare in the next generation."

"No family, no nation, is too poor to help others while indulging in wasteful, non-productive expenditures and consumption of luxuries, the value of which would save a less fortunate family or nation from bankruptcy."

Curing your Golf Troubles
Dear Mr. Barnes: What change in methods from the ordinary ought to be made in playing a ball on a downslope. Is it necessary to alter the grip and stance or either? Should the swinger be flatter or more upright?
C. C. B.

Answer: There should not necessarily be any change in the grip for playing a ball on a downslope, and the same applies to the stance, except that the ball ought to be played further forward toward the right foot.

One important consideration is to brace securely with the left leg to keep the weight from toppling toward the left with the downswing and thus causing you to duft the shot. With the weight braced with the left leg, try to make the club follow the slope of the ground in hitting the ball, and don't try to help the club raise the ball by any scooping motion. There is frequently a tendency to do this, and it usually results in toping the ball.

For the reason just cited I don't think it is advisable to try to swing more upright than you ordinarily do. On the other hand, I do recommend that where a player doubts his ability to make the ball rise properly he use a club with plenty of loft, a spoon for instance, instead of a brassie, where distance is needed. Also as a rule there is a tendency to slice, so some allowance should be made for this in selecting the line of play.

JOHN COTTON GIVES FIRST OF TALKS ON PAINTING

In his talk before the art section of the Tuesday Afternoon club Tuesday, John Cotton, water color painter and etcher of this city, gave the first of a series of talks on the evolution and development of painting in America.

He described conditions of colonial times in the settlements established by the English and French, and the influence of the Puritans who had religious prejudices against certain forms of art and stood only for what was pure and good. This he claimed was of benefit to American art. The principal contribution of that period was portraits, of which the early Americans were very fond. He touched on the work of Benjamin West, Stuart and Copley and covered the period before the rise of what is known as The Hudson River School of landscape painters, a branch in which America now leads with the foremost painters of the world.

REV. COLE MAKES SOME INTERESTING STATEMENTS

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of Central Christian church stated last Sunday that "seventeen years ago the minister of this church preached his first sermon in his first pastorate in Abilene, Kansas. During this time he has brought into the church in regular church work 1319 persons, besides those who in outside meetings. He has held but three pastorates: Abilene, six years; St. Louis, four years, and seven years in this church. The year has seemed short and have been very happy ones."

He also cited with some satisfaction that the Glendale church has made the most noteworthy record of any in California in large and steady gains in mission giving. The year 1923 will end with a record of over $3500 for missions without one call from the pulpit for an offering and without a Sunday school special offering. The entire budget for all purposes for 1917 was less than $2400, including pastor's salary.

NEW BABY GIRL IN GLENDAL HOME

Smiles that won't come off, and large bunches of them, too, are seen in the home of John and Mary Downen, at 1212 South Maryland avenue.

The cause of it all is the arrival Wednesday, November 7, of a nine pound baby girl, named Mary Corriethers Downen. Both the mother and baby, now at the Glendale Sanitarium, are doing fine. The father is so enraptured that he has declared himself a holiday to celebrate the event.

DORAN STREET P. T. A. HAS FINE MEETING WEDNESDAY

Regular meeting of the Doran Street Parent-Teacher association, of which Mrs. Clark Johnson is president, was held at the school on Wednesday afternoon. The pupils of Miss Land's room gave several patriotic songs. Superintendent Richardson D. White was present and spoke on "American Education Week and Criticisms of the Public School." An invitation was extended to the mothers to attend the teachers' institute to be held on Monday at the high school. Mrs. J. C. Danford, librarian, spoke on "Children's Reading."

Miss Land's room received the picture for a month for having the largest percentage of mothers present at the P. T. A. meeting. Members of the association are planning to meet Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Olson at 1521 East Broadway to work on comforts for the Glendale Welfare work.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The next meeting of the La Crescenta Woman's club, Wednesday afternoon, November 14, promises to be particularly interesting. Besides a splendid program arranged by the committee, the plans for the new clubhouse will be discussed during the afternoon. These plans are being drawn by Architect Charles A. Creeth, who has generously given his services. The building committee held its first meeting this afternoon with Mrs. Charles Turk at the La Crescenta hotel.

A syndicate formed by Dr. C. Mailer is subdividing 17 acres on Honolulu avenue between New York and Boston avenues. M. S. Collins has a ten acre tract on New York and a subdivision on West Montrose avenue that he is placing on the market this month. The ten acre tract of the second unit of Honolulu Acres, owned by F. H. Anderson, is a new subdivision selling very rapidly.

Arthur Alkon is subdividing his fine property on Ramsdale avenue. Mrs. C. Geiso recently purchased ten acres on New York avenue that will be placed on the market this month. The five acre tract sold by J. L. Hanber on South Ramsdale avenue and the James Smith property on South Rosemont avenue are the most recent tracts to be sold in small home lots.

What is considered the high mark for acreage in this district, was paid R. Toeschken when he sold twenty acres, on Pennsylvania avenue south of Michigan avenue, for $50,000 to the two realty firms, Twining & Meyers and Wilson & Burton, both of Glendale, who will immediately subdivide and place lots on the market.

"The Dwellers of the Desert" is the title of the picture to be shown at the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon, November 21. This entertainment is under the supervision of the local Boy Scouts, the proceeds to go to their flag fund. The admission for this splendid entertainment will be only ten cents.

Earl Palmer, the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Palmer, who with his little brother Emmett was stricken with ptomaine poison last week, is reported much improved. Emmett passed away after only a few hours' illness the victim of poisoning contracted from canned salmon.

Mrs. C. E. Culberson of East Michigan avenue, is hostess this afternoon at a buffet luncheon and bridge party for the Wilshire chapter of the Eastern Stars of Los Angeles. Forty-five members enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Culberson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Fowler of Chicago will arrive the latter part of this week for their usual mid-winter stay at their La Crescenta home. Mr. Fowler is planning to subdivide his property on Los Angeles and Honolulu avenues during his stay here.

Many of the residents of La Crescenta attended the opening of the Montrose school and chamber of commerce social last Tuesday evening and report a most enjoyable time.

Indications that the autumn buying season has set in through out the valley is evident by the many real estate transfers and the many new subdivisions being opened.

Another new subdivision being placed on the market during this month are ten acres by C. E. Culberson, an addition to his De Luxe subdivision.

Many residents of the La Crescenta valley enjoyed the splendid benefit entertainment for the fire relief fund at Glendale Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Howard Reynolds of North Rosemont avenue was the guest of friends in Los Angeles during the week.

Ex-Congressman James McLachlen of Los Angeles, was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. H. S. Bissell, last Tuesday.

LITERATI SECTION OF TUESDAY CLUB HEARS PROGRAM

Substantial evidence of the fact that club women of today are concerned with the big achievements and activity in the world of affairs was the interest shown in these matters at the regular meeting of the literature section of the Tuesday Afternoon club held in the tea room of the clubhouse on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. H. C. Wilcox had charge of a short business session when plans were completed for the cooked food booth at the society circus on November 16 and 17. Any club member wishing to contribute cooked food is asked to bring same either Friday or Saturday of next week for the circus.

Current events given in answer to roll call brought out many interesting topics of the day. Members of the section present included Mrs. H. C. Wilcox, Mrs. T. G. McDougall, Mrs. V. Rapp, Mrs. C. J. Higgins, Mrs. H. S. Garlinghouse, Mrs. Frankie E. Webb, Mrs. C. T. Jones, Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, Mrs. H. D. Fortier, Mrs. Fred Abbey, Mrs. Homer Lockwood, Mrs. Edith Fessenden, Mrs. Edgar Leavitt, Mrs. Helen Sawyer, Mrs. W. H. Verity, Mrs. R. W. Mottern, Mrs. J. A. Bolton, Mrs. Mae Lyon, Mrs. C. C. Tucker, Mrs. Chester Woodbury, Mrs. Alfred Smith, Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth, Mrs. E. Cleophas, Mrs. H. Hanscom, Mrs. R. Pickett, Mrs. Fambrough, Miss Mary Rhodes, Mrs. C. H. Rowe and Mrs. Daniel Campbell.

The section was honored as having as its guest for the afternoon Mrs. Linne, one of whose pupils, Miss Carol Marshall, took part in the program of the afternoon.

Mme. Linne was the guest of Mrs. Frankie Webb, who was a former pupil of hers. Mrs. Norman Ball gave two very excellent piano numbers, "Improvisation in C Sharp Minor" (Reinhold) and "The Old Mother" (Greig). Mrs. Hollingsworth read a paper on "Great Achievements," taking in the subjects of the development of glass-making, automobiles, telephones, aeroplanes and balloons, photography, motion pictures, structural concrete, water power development, the automobile, radio and wireless and the erection of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

This was followed by an informal discussion of new books read during the summer. Mrs. Fred Abbey read a paper reviewing magazines. Miss Carol Marshall accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Norman Ball, sang, "Could My Songs Their Way Be Winged" (Hahn) and "Oh, for a Burst of Song" (Allison). Mrs. H. C. Wilcox reminded the members of "Children's Book Week," the slogan this year being for every child to earn a book. At the close of the business session a social half hour was enjoyed, with tea and wafers being served by the hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. V. Rapp and Mrs. E. W. Gilliland. The topic for the next meeting of the section, which will be on November 21, will be "Americanization."

Just Chatter

By JOHN L. MULLIGAN

"The meanest man in the world!" Who and where is he and what has he done to achieve his certainly unique, though hardly enviable distinction. The papers are full of both him and his doings while a few periodicals are even running contests to determine his identity. He rambles across our picture screens and our speaking stage and stalks through the portals of our divorce courts, according to the testimony of his wretched wives. "The meanest man in the world!"

I read a couple of jokes recently which claimed that one of the world's meanest men was so confounded mean that he drove spikes into his fence so the birds couldn't light on them, while the other rated the title by telling his little son that Santa Claus wouldn't make the rounds because he committed suicide. Jokes, of course, but I don't doubt a bit that somewhere there are men just as mean, probably meaner.

We've all heard of the proverbial "meanest man" who stole pennies off the dead man's eyes, but our own civilization has produced some equally sweet-natured playmates. I read the other day where a sick, bedridden, helpless old lady was relieved of $61 which lay beneath her pillow. A wife testified in divorce court the same day that her husband was so mean he emptied her medicine into the sink during her illness. Pretty mean, eh?

They're in all walks of life, too, these "meanest." Business supplies its quota. The scoundrel who deliberately and knowingly sells worthless stock to widows and poor folks is one, while meaner still is the hypocritical, tin-heart specimen who mumbles the Lord's Prayer Sunday, while figuring in the same breath a means of skinning his help on Monday.

Yes, siree! There's a lot of 'em. But meaner, lower, basest of all, fit only to be in a class by himself, is the dope peddler. That's that!

RUSSIAN MUSIC PROGRAM AT T. A. CLUB FRIDAY

Mrs. E. W. Kinney has arranged a very delightful program of Russian music for the regular meeting of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club to be held at the clubhouse on Friday, November 9. There will be a short business session in charge of Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator. Mrs. Bine J. Smith is to be hostess. The program will include the following numbers and will be open to members of the club: piano solo, Miss Alberta Metzler; soprano solo by Mme. Cherniavsky Freedman, (a) Russian folk song, sung in Russian language; (b) "Maiden's Wish" (Chopin); baritone solo, "Serenade" (Tchaikowsky), by Gillman Williams; soprano solo by Miss Hilda Goldman, (a) "The Lilac" (Rachmaninoff); Russian dance, "Characteristique" by Mile. Marcella Webb.

LETTERS CARRIERS TO BE HOSTS SATURDAY NIGHT

The Letter Carriers' union of this city will be hosts at a delightful entertainment to be given by them at K. of P. hall Saturday evening, November 10, at 8 o'clock, at which the play "Her Honor the Mayor" will be presented by pupils of "The Emerson School of Expression." The cast will include Mrs. Clegborn in the stellar role of "Eve," the mayor; H. Biederman as the leading man and husband of Eve; Miss Helen Page, secretary of the school; Mrs. Murphy, Mr. Hague and Mr. Badger.

A dance will follow the play, the price of tickets for the entertainment being 75 cents.

SPANISH WAR VETS' AUXILIARY MEETS

Mrs. Mary R. Hill presided at the regular meeting of the Spanish War Veterans auxiliary held Wednesday night, Mrs. Capitola Brown was initiated into the organization. Several applications for membership will be initiated at the next session. A combined social and business meeting is planned for November 21. On December 6 the auxiliary will give a Christmas party and are making arrangements for some unusual features.

MONTROSE NOTES

Perhaps one of the most enthusiastic and interesting meetings in the history of the Montrose chamber of commerce was that which was held Tuesday evening in the new Montrose school house. The spirit of absolute joy and good fellowship that pervaded the gathering was good to see and was gratifying to those who had lent their untiring efforts to make the evening worth while.

Dr. Marion Tracy Whiting, a member of the national bureau of Community Service, and a woman of extraordinary personality and charm, was the inspiration of the evening. Dr. Whiting led the good old songs that started off the evening, and caused many a laugh by the "rare and excellent" stories which she told so humorously.

Proceeding the social evening a short business session was held, which Mr. Brown opened with a few timely remarks. Mr. Collins introduced an old friend, ex-Governor Plaston of Maine, who complimented the people of Montrose upon their many fine points and the rare beauty of the "community."

Members of several committees made reports on the progress of their endeavors. Singing by Mrs. Will Reed, Mr. Eccleston and Mr. Andrew Craft was enjoyed immensely, as were also the piano and violin solos rendered by Mrs. Eccleston and Mr. Reed. Readings by Mrs. Evelyn Pierce of Glendale caused a good deal of pleasure.

Delicious coffee and cake furnished by Mr. Craft of the Blue Bird cafe was served at the close of the excellent program.

Tickets for the Chamber of Commerce dance are now on sale and are being disposed of in short order. That the affair will be the social event of the month is certain. Those interested in dancing should avail themselves of the opportunity to enjoy an evening of untold pleasure. A splendid orchestra from Pasadena has been secured for the party which will be held in the La Crescenta school auditorium. If you have not already secured your tickets just call one of the chamber of commerce members. They may also be secured from Mr. Craft at the cafe or from Miss Ellis in the Carson realty office.

Mr. Bellanger has received 5000 attractive booklets concerning Montrose and he will be happy to give them out to any who would like to mail them to friends and acquaintances. Mr. Bellanger is chairman of the publicity committee of the Chamber of Commerce and has certainly shown his worth in getting up these attractive folders as the first step in a big plan to "sell" Montrose to the world.

Mrs. Elaine E. Gordon is the winner in the slogan contest. Mrs. Gordon submitted the beautiful and appropriate line: "Montrose—Gem of the Green Verdugos." She received the $5 bill offered by Mr. Bel-

In their recent proclamation at Dusseldorf, the separatists stated that the "Directory of the Rhineland Republic" consisted of Joseph Matthes for the northern section and Dr. Dorten for the southern.

MICHEL WANTS FRIEND TO RECEIVE DUE CREDIT

Michel, the boy wonder, was a caller at the Daily Press office last night and he came solely in the interest of his friend and companion, Monroe Man Jockers, who dropped work that meant many dollars to him and hurried out to Glendale Tuesday evening to play for his little friend, that he might not be embarrassed in his xiphophone playing by a strange accompanist. The little fellow, who is only 9 years old and, while talking freely, is yet modest and boy-like owns to the name of Michel J. Howe and he lives at 3355 Hollywood court, Los Angeles. He recently played at the Glendale theater and when Uncle Bill Howe, whom he took to at once, asked him to play for the benefit entertainment, he eagerly consented.

langer for the best slogan which could be used for all time as a fitting motto for Montrose. The winning slogan was chosen by the directors of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Singer of the Gas company has stated that every street in Montrose and La Crescenta will be piped for gas within the next three months. To those who have been somewhat dubious as to whether or not the gas would reach them, this is welcome news. Orders for gas should be sent in at once if possible.

UTTER FAMILY MAY AGAIN LIVE IN GLENDALE

Rev. J. W. Utter, who organized the Central Christian church congregation in Glendale and was pastor for the first five years of its existence, last night resigned his work at Bellflower, where he recently organized a flourishing congregation and built a fine house of worship to act as city evangelist for Los Angeles and nearby communities. His first work, which he will enter upon at once, will be the establishing of a church at Montrose. He is quite anxious to make his home in Glendale and will do so if proper arrangements can be made. He and Mrs. Utter, with the youngest child and only son, Jamie, are all that remain in the family circle. The four elder daughters are married and two of them, Evelyn Utter Pearson and Grace Utter Learned, are missionaries in the Congo region of Africa. The youngest daughter, Elizabeth, is in her last year of school at Eureka college, Illinois.

Galbraith Memorial To Be Unveiled Nov. 10

[By Associated Press] CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—High officials of the government, representatives of allied governments and hundreds of Legionnaires from all parts of the country will be present at the dedication of the Galbraith Memorial here on Saturday, November 10, the memorial committee has announced.

Colonel Fred W. Galbraith, Jr., the second national commander of the American Legion, lost his life in an automobile accident. The memorial to be unveiled in his memory is in the form of a monument located in Eden Park, on a site which commands a view of the Ohio river and the Kentucky hills.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, who extended an invitation to President Coolidge to be present, has been advised that the president "regret he cannot be with you, he having made a positive rule that he will not make any speeches until after the first of the year."

"We fit not for this he would certainly accept," Colonel Roosevelt's message is quoted as having said, "because of his high admiration for Galbraith and his strong sympathy with and appreciation of the veterans and the American Legion."

A man went for a day's fishing, talking his lunch with him. About half past 1 his son, breathless and excited, reached him and said: "Mother wants those sandwiches back."

The man replied: "She can't have them. I've eaten them. Why?"

"Oh, nothing," said the boy, "only tomorrow you'll have to clean your brown boots with blotter paste."

Truths in Epigram

Victory belongs to the most persevering. — Napoleon.

There are many men whose tongues might govern their tongues. — Prentice.

Haste maketh waste. — Heywood (about 1565).

Who goeth a borrowing, goeth a sorrowing. — Tusser (1515-1580).

WINKING AT HOMER

When 'Omer smote 'is bloomin' fyre,
He'd 'eard men sing by land and sea;
An' what 'e thought 'e might require,
'E went an' took—the same as me.

They knew 'e stole; 'e knew they knowed.
They didn't tell, nor make a fuss,
But winked at 'Omer down the road,
And 'e winked back—the same as us.

So in jolly mood confessed the poet Rudyard Kipling, a mighty maker of song. In adorning the product of his genius, he did not scorn to use the gem that some genius going before had left where it might be plucked from obscurity and given a proper setting. Other poets have been less frank. They have annexed phrases, and absorbed ideas, giving no hint of credit to the originator. Then they have been detected, and the error of their ways censured by the critic gloating in discovery. Kipling was wise enough to forestall the carping assailant, for the poet, in advance, blunted the pen of the searcher after ethical imperfections in the product of letters. But Kipling verse is remarkably free from the fault to which he makes voluntary plea of guilt. However, when Kipling wrote "An American" ascribing the words to "The American Spirit," he opened the poem in this fashion:

"If the Led Striker call it a strike,
Or the papers call it a war,
They know not much what I am like,
Nor what he is, my Avator."

This strikes upon the understanding of the reader with an air of familiarity. It seems the message of an old friend. It recalls something. The reader ransacks his memory and into it there flash certain lines of Emerson:

"If the red slayer think he slays,
Or if the slain think he is slain,
They know not well the subtle ways
I keep, and pass, and turn again."

The Emersonian poem was entitled "Brahma." Nevertheless it must have been in it that Kipling came upon his inspiration. He reproduced the form with exactitude, and the feeling with sincerity; in fact with the imitative faculty so apparent that it must be accepted as flattery.

Kipling is one of the few great living poets. Whether he put forth another line, his reputation has been won, and his fame is not to be diminished. If he has had occasion to "wink at 'Omer" nobody begrudges the taking of the liberty.

ASPIRING AUTHORS DISCOURAGED

Thousands of writers, or near writers, believe themselves capable of producing scenarios. Doubtless some of them are; but even from such the chance is withheld. There is nothing to prevent them, it is true, from devising all manner of plots, and setting these down, but having done so, they cannot get a hearing, or rather, a reading. The producers of pictures often say they want new ideas, but they do nothing to prove their sincerity. Each concern has its own set of scenario makers. They work according to prescribed rules. Apparently they have no new ideas, or if they have, are not permitted to use them. The scenario submitted by the outsider represents a waste of time unless, through continued disappointment, the outsider becomes chastened in spirit, and acquires the courage to face rebuff, this quality serving him after he has abandoned a fruitless field.

Producers prefer to accept the work of men and women of established reputation. They will take a story that has been printed in magazine or book, if they discern there something they think adapted to screen purposes. The chances are that even then they will turn it over to their own mechanics of letters, and that the author, beholding the ultimate result, will go away gnashing his or her teeth.

There is reason to question the usefulness of studying to become a scenario writer. There may be instructors capable of teaching all the technical tricks, but there is none who can help the student market the output of acquired knowledge. When the movies were new there was a teaching hither and yon for subjects and ideas. Then the outsider had a chance. Sometimes he actually was welcomed. Gradually a change came about. The door was shut to the voluntary contributor, and inside the door was a small army grinding out picture stuff by rote; and the door was locked.

A BLOW AT OLD AGE

A doctor who occupies a chair at the University of Prague, announces the discovery of a remedy for arteriosclerosis. It is said to produce relief within four days. Had not the latter claim been made there might have been a tendency to listen with some degree of faith.

The disease mentioned is the hardening of the arteries, the direct result, as a rule, of old age. The walls of these vessels become too rigid to yield to the force of the heart, circulation is impeded, the heart is over-tasked, and stops. In other cases the blood, unable to pass freely the arterial point, causes abscess resulting in death or the loss of a limb. As these conditions arrive after many years, or when the subject has so lived as to have taken a short cut to senility, it hardly is reasonable to suppose that science could have any appreciable effect upon them in so brief a time as four days. If able to make good this boast, science would have to be regarded as having triumphed over time. Banish the symptoms of old age, and there couldn't be old age, save as measured by the calendar.

Full credit will be given the Prague professor for anything that he may have accomplished. The tendency to doubt is that so many cures have been announced, have for awhile been applied, and then discarded, largely by reason of failure to cure. Not an asserted discovery in the lot has gone so far as this latest one, which virtually is set forth as a method of abolishing old age.

Anaheim high school girls object to use of the lipstick. So does everybody else but the user. Moderate indulgence in cosmetics, curing a shiny nose, or providing a complexion correcting the errors of nature, is not to be condemned. The practice that makes the human mouth appear as a sanguinary gash, lacks redeeming qualities.

A musician was divorced because he declined to commercialize his art. That is to say, he might have played in an orchestra, earning bread for his family, but such a course would have been commercialization of his artistic gifts. Some would say the fellow was afflicted with temperament, but the more plainly spoken would say he was too lazy to live.

There is displayed the picture of a female dancer who in lieu of clothing wears a coat of vari-colored paint. The effect of the portrait is similar to that derived from studying a snake in the zoo at close range.

Vassar and Dog-Literature

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Having just been denounced by a self canonized male for my love of dumb things, I am disposed to direct attention to their worth and virtues.

Vassar ranks high as an educational institution, yet Vassar now has decided to make a collection of dog literature to be called "The Mary Ann Collection" (for some reason that does not appear).

Anybody who knows dogs realizes that the collection will contain much that is fine, much that is touching and deeply pathetic and much more that ought to inspire us humans to desire a better understanding with our four-footed friends. Because the self-canonized male who wrote me expressed himself as below recorded in regard to dogs I'd like to sentence him to make a careful study of the Vassar collection. Here is his opinion:

"The dog has no more intelligence than what one's fancy credit him with having. Dogs are all right in their place. Dogs smell bad."

"And to think that probably some devoted and intelligent dog may have to live with that man—and be allowed to 'smell bad' because uncared for. In passing may I remind the self-canonized one that unwashed men smell quite as bad as unwashed dogs?"

However, it's the dog's virtues and not his smell that inspires this article; and I am writing this to call the attention of Vassar to two stories. Recently a great Newfoundland dog received a decoration for bravery because he swam through a roaring surf in a tremendous storm and bore a life line that saved the lives of 92 people.

And that dog knew full well as he swam that his own life was in danger. Then this pathetic story comes from Pennsylvania where it was featured in many big newspapers.

A farmer's son had for companion a little scrub dog. One day last spring the pair were crossing a field when the lad was attacked by a great bull which gored him in the arm. Before the animal could make a second charge the little dog seized him by the hind leg. The bull turned and the dog, releasing his hold on the animal's leg drew his attention, snapping and retreating. The tactics continued until the lad was safely out of the pasture when the dog, seeing his fate, gave up and fell a victim to his loyalty and love, gored to death in place of the lad he adored.

Had that little furry martyr "no more intelligence than what one's fancy credit him with?" Let the father of the living boy for whom the dog died reply. His son is in deep truth the gift of a little mongrel.

Good luck to Vassar and "bad cess" to the bipeds who believe that all quadrupeds are good for is to supply pep for the hunting season or skins for gloves.

No true history of martyrdom and devotion could be written that did not contain a long list of the noble deeds of our canine friends.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

When I was a youngster I loved Alice Day. Which, of course, is not her name. I was not remarkable in that, for every other youngster who was old enough also loved her. It isn't any wonder. She had all the makings for love affairs.

Then—something happened. You know what a small town can do in the way of scandal. Alice dropped out of sight. I had forgotten about her until I met her face to face, prettier than ever, happier than ever I had known Alice Day to look, refined and sweetened and made more kind, by living. In five minutes I knew that she was a finer and more admirable woman than the adorable Alice I knew had over promised to be.

"I know you're wondering what happened," said Alice, suddenly. "You knew all—or as much as any one did—and I know you always stood my friend."

The story itself was simple. She had moved away from our little fire-tongued village, lost herself, buried her poor, foolish, lamentable, tragic little past. Not that I'm criticizing our bitter wives and mothers. The human race, I suspect, has gone reasonably straight for a good many years for fear of what Mrs. Smith might say to Mrs. Jones. She lived down that early trouble. She had almost forgotten it. Man after man had courted her, but in the light of savage experience she was able to assess them at value. By and by the right man came along.

"I told him the truth," said Alice. "I had rather die than live in fear. He forgave, of course, as any big man would forgive. And I am free of fear. No one—no one—can make me afraid."

An old detective once said that blackmail is the modern crime. More people, he said, are being blackmailed today than ever before and for larger sums.

"The extraordinary thing," said he, "is that the victims suffer far more than they could possibly suffer if they told the truth. I've had a life time of dealing with them. I know."

THE LISTENING POST

Let us talk it over.
Nothing like a friendly discussion.
It helps.

You may remember the old days in school.
When the problem defied your efforts.

JAMES W. FOLEY

It would not come out right.
You tried it again and again.

And every time you tried it you were defeated in your effort to solve it.

Until your head ached.
Your mind was benumbed.

And the solution escaped you.
And then somebody came and helped a little.

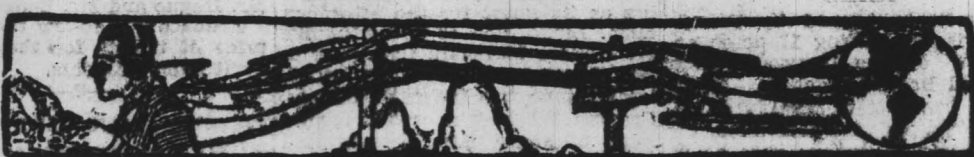

Somebody with a clear head.
For yours was all befuddled from too much trying.
Somebody pointed out your error.
And you wondered you had not seen it before.

Then it was all plain as day.
With the one error corrected the answer came easily.

Your head stopped aching.
All was clear.
Because somebody who was not fussed or fretted and worried helped you along.

It is often that way in life.
Which is full of problems.
Problems that seem to defy solution.
Troubles are many.

And the more you ponder them the more difficult they seem to be.
Until somebody comes along with a clear head and points out the error.

Songs of the Poets

You—By Lilian Nicholson in Munsey's Magazine

You make me think of all the lovely things
That God has made.
The azure hue of summer skies;
The oak tree's shade;
A crystal plasm high-flung by soaring lark;
A pansy's face;
The harp-sweet humming of the pines;
A sunny place.

These are the things that please the poet soul—
The magic clew
That led my heart to find, dear love,
These things in you!

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

There are rumors that salaries of motion picture stars must come down, and as many of them are absurdly high, probably these are not idle gossip.

France seems slow to recognize the danger of having to play a lone hand.

A Hollywood realty operator captured a bandit, but didn't try to sell him a lot.

Moving pictures imported from soviet Russia move the public to indignation mostly.

A movie star wanted $5000 a week to appear in person, an interesting fact. He didn't get it, this being another fact as interesting.

It is evident that Secretary Hughes is not getting his diplomatic plans and specifications from France.

Twenty years for attempting to bribe prohibition officials ought to protect them against future temptation.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

REMAKING THE HUMAN
[Buffalo Express]

Dr. Voronoff says he expects to be able to reveal the secret of everlasting girlhood about November. After this revelation any grandmother can become a debutante at will. Dignified old ladies, so inclined, may take the Voronoff treatment, and be made into flippant flappers.

Just how long the effect will last is not revealed. Perhaps this is still to be determined. It may be quite as indefinite as it is in the case of those old men of youthful inclinations who have permitted themselves to be made over and are surprised to find that they have not achieved perpetual youth.

Someone has said in this connection: "What the doctors should do is to find some means of preserving the strength of women of seventy so that they can give the benefit of their ripe experience to those who are in need of it." Therein is the kernel of a sane idea. The only trouble with it is that most persons who are in need of the ripe experience of other persons of seventy don't know it or won't admit it.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Ambassador Herrick makes a speech in France in which he says "whether we like it or not, our lot now is cast in with other nations." He also remarked, referring to Americans, "we have put our hands to the plow, and are willing to run the furrow through."

Some people seem to be highly excited about it. Mr. Herrick has not committed anybody to anything. He has made the mere acknowledgment that the United States is concerned in the affairs of the world, which, before he spoke, had been a matter of common knowledge.

Germany at this writing seems to have a dictator in Stresemann. He has yet to show that he can be such a power as Mussolini is in Italy. The fates seem rather against him in this respect. Just now the rumor of a monarchist uprising adds to the already considerable burden of anxiety. If there is not actual fighting, there are plenty of people ready to fight.

France officially clings to the plan of exacting reparations in full, and declining to listen to discussion, or brook interference. Yet there is a considerable element in France, now finding voice, that frankly dissents.

But the complexion of Europe's turmoil changes so rapidly that its phases hardly may be mentioned before they have given place to a new set.

Driving an automobile, girls are warned, tends to destroy the symmetry of the leg. Perhaps some girls will believe this, despite the fact that it palpably is nonsense.

The slight effort of pressing a gas accelerator could have no appreciable effect in developing the muscle, and were it to do so, would cause no harm.

Everybody is crazy, according to a Paris savant who proposes to administer a serum to each new born babe, and check the rising tide of madness.

Probably the man is mistaken, but he's crazy himself, which explains his view.

A disabled veteran, by trade a carpenter, has made a fine violin. He was without training in this art, yet as an expert expressed it, he had covered twenty years of progress. The veteran even made the tools with which he wrought.

The government pays this man $8 a month. For some lover of the beautiful, some person appreciating genius, to finance the veteran so as to enable him to follow his chosen calling, would be a fine thing. And it would seem so natural a response.

Facts ascertained by members of the class in journalism at Redlands high school are interesting. They tend to prove that education is a good investment. The average college graduate earns $2000 a year, the high school graduate $1000, the elementary school graduate $600.

The figures cited set forth that with one college graduate to each 100 population, 36 per cent of congressmen are graduates; 50 per cent of Presidents, 54 of vice presidents, 60 per cent of supreme court judges and 87 per cent of attorneys-general.

Aspiring young students ought to be encouraged to "carry on."

From Champaign, Ill., comes the story that a flock of ducks, mistaking a wet pavement for a river, dived, and 100 of them broke their necks against the asphalt.

That is a very fair story. It is believed, however, by psychologists that the ducks did not err unwittingly, but that they had some great sorrow, and committed suicide.

The Mt. Wilson toll road is safe for any good driver under ordinary conditions. It is not a place that permits recklessness, nor carelessness, nor over-confidence.

The driver who speeds on the side of Mt. Wilson and is killed is not overtaken by fate; he has been pursuing fate, and caught up. But accidents occur wherever there is life and in many instances nobody is to blame.

Challapin, the singer, displeased with the music at rehearsal ejaculated "Imbeciles! Figs! Artists-bah!" Of course it was the duty of observers to interpret this as temperament, and to believe Challapin even greater for having made a show of his rotten disposition. But alas, one of the musicians maligned, whacked Challapin on the nose, not having the proper appreciation of fame.

Prophecy is made that ocean travel in twenty years will be almost exclusively by air lines. The prediction certainly is liberal in its allowance of time.

The air liner is not a matter of the distant future. After the beginning, developments may be as rapid as with the more mobile plane.

Evidently believing in equality, a Philadelphia woman posed as a federal officer, and in this guise accepted bribes from bootleggers. A regular masculine trick.

In Chicago the pretty lady burglar has just killed another man. In her case it is hoped that nothing will happen to shake her belief in equality, and that she will go to the electric chair without making any plea based on sex.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

PESTS

Why in the world must we suffer pests? Why can't things run along smoothly as we planned them? They never do.

You plant a garden and coax the seeds up out of the ground, and a million weeds spring up to challenge them. The plants are a few inches high and your heart lightens—when out comes the woodchuck and nips off their heads. You set a trap for him and as you adjust it grimly before his castle door you spy a scattering of plants cut off close to the ground. The cutworm has ascended from the depths and sawed off his morning meal.

Growing a garden is a thrilling battle with the pests. You count yourself lucky to be one row ahead of them at the close of the siege.

Bring up children—it's just the same. You get them so they can rest their wobbly heads against the pillow and smile at you and along comes a tooth. Why a tooth should make a pest of its coming is beyond comprehension, but it does.

The teeth settle down to a grinding calm and along comes the whoops and the measles and the chicken pox to keep you alert and active. One pest after another!

You get the youngster along to the place where he gets to school and heave a sigh of relief. You needn't. The one infantile disorder that escaped him he catches now and you must remain on guard against the epidemics of the schools.

The day comes when he seems to have passed the contagious disease stage. His teeth are all in, his digestive apparatus is in good working order. Too good—it digests anything he puts up to it, or down to it as is his practice. You heave another sigh and think "At last."

You needn't. Down appears upon his face, pimples poke out their disagreeable heads, nerves are cranky and moods are frequent. He has entered the adolescent stage.

Clothes and manners and girls are upon you and must be handled diplomatically and with leisurely calm. No traps will answer here. Why? Why can't children grow along smoothly as we planned to have them do? Why a fresh set of difficulties every state of the way? It's the law, that's all. You shall earn your way, you know.

And what would one be doing in all the leisure time left by the defection of the pests? Probably something not nearly as worth while as helping a child grow up. You know the pest bothers him much more than it does us. We are inclined to think the unpleasantness all our own. It isn't. Most of it is visited upon the children. The plant hates to have its head nipped off by the "chuck" and the child is terribly uneasy under a visitation of the chicken-pox. What could one do with more profit to his own soul than to fight the pests of childhood? When you can't see why they should come why just think of that and grin and bear with them. Especially grin.

CANCER AND DIET

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

To account for the exceptional prevalence of cancer in countries of a high degree of civilization, numerous medical men once more are stressing the dietary factor. On this theory the comparative freedom from cancer enjoyed by primitives like the Eskimos and inland tribes of South America, would be the result of the simplicity of their living.

And some of the most eminent of the present day students of the cancer problem do not hesitate to insist that over-eating and the eating of over-rich foodstuffs may be indirect, if not direct, causes of cancer. Writing recently to the London Times, Sir William Arbuthnot Lane pleaded earnestly for a return to simpler diets in the interest of cancer prevention. And, speaking to a large audience of medical men, he declared:

"I cannot impress you too strongly Col. R. McCarrison's experience in India.

"Col. McCarrison spent nine years in the Himalayas, during which time he had a large practice, performing more than 400 capital operations each year. During that time he never saw one case of asthenic dyspepsia, or gastric or duodenal ulcer, of appendicitis, of mucous colitis, or of cancer—all evidences of chronic stasis in their normal sequence.

"I have obtained precisely similar evidence from other very experienced medical men who have been engaged in practice for many years among primitive races."

Compare Dr. Hoffman's first-hand evidence, following a visit to Peru, Bolivia and Brazil to study health conditions in those countries:

"I did not meet with a single authentic case of breast cancer, while other forms of cancer are extremely rare. The absence of breast cancer in active races is not a matter of conjecture, or the result of imperfect diagnosis or non-medical treatment, but a fact sustained by every medical and surgical practitioner whose evidence has been placed at my disposal.

"The almost non-occurrence of breast cancer among the women of primitive races is fully supported by my personal investigations among the Navajos, the Zunis and the Hopis of the southwest, and by my statistical researches for Hawaii and Japan."

END OF SERMON ON THE MOUNT IN NEW TESTAMENT STORY; LORD'S PRAYER By EDGAR J. GOODESPEED THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW

Our Father, in heaven,
Your name be revered!
Your kingdom come!
Your will be done on earth as it is done in heaven!
Give us today bread for the day,
And forgive us our debts, as we have forgiven our debtors.
And do not subject us to temptation,
But save us from the evil one.

For if you forgive others when they offend you, your heavenly Father will forgive you too. But if you do not forgive others when they offend you, your heavenly Father will not forgive you for your offenses.

"When you fast, do not put on a gloomy look, like the hypocrites, for they neglect their personal appearance to let people see that they are fasting. I tell you, that is all the reward they will get. But when you fast, perfume your hair and wash your face, so that no one may see that you are fasting, except your Father who is unseen, and your Father who sees what is secret, will reward you.

"Do not store up your riches on earth, where moths and rust destroy them, and where thieves break in and steal them, but store up your riches in heaven, where moths and rust cannot destroy them, and where thieves cannot break in and steal them. For wherever your treasure is, your heart will be also. The eye is the lamp of the body. If then your eye is sound, your whole body will be light, but if your eye is unsound, your whole body will be dark. If, therefore, your very light is darkness, how deep the darkness will be! No slave can belong to two masters, for he will either hate one and love the other, or stand by one and make light of the other. You cannot serve God and money. Therefore, I tell you, do not worry about life, wondering what you will have to eat or drink, or about your body, wondering what you will have to wear. Is not life more important than food, and the body than clothes? Look at the wild birds. They do not sow or reap, or store their food in barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more account than they? But which of you with all his worry can add a single hour to his life? Why should you worry about clothing? See how the wild flowers grow. They do not toil or spin, and yet I tell you, even Solomon in all his splendor was never dressed like one of them. But if God so beautifully dresses the wild grass, which is alive today and is thrown into the furnace tomorrow, will he not much more surely clothe you, you who have so little faith? So do not worry and say, 'What shall we have to eat?' or 'What shall we have to drink?' or 'What shall we have to wear?' For these are all things the heathen are in pursuit of, and your heavenly Father knows well that you need all this. But you must make his kingdom, and uprightness before him, your greatest care, and you will have all these other things besides. So do not worry about tomorrow; for tomorrow will have worries of its own. Let each day be content with its own ill.

"Pass no more judgments upon other people, so that you may not have judgment passed upon you. For you will be judged by the standard you judge by, and men will pay you back with the same measure you have used with them. Why do you keep looking at the speck in your brother's eye, and pay no attention to the beam that is in your own? How can you say to your brother, 'Just let me get that speck out of your eye,' when all the time there is a beam in your own? You hypocrite! First get the beam out of your own eye, and then you can see to get the speck out of your brother's eye.

"Do not give what is sacred to dogs, and do not throw your pearls before pigs, or they will trample them under their feet and turn and tear you in pieces. Ask, and what you ask will be given you. Search, and you will find what you search for. Knock, and the door will open to you. For it is always the one who asks who receives, and the one who searches who finds, and the one who knocks to whom the door opens. Which of you men when his son asks him for some bread will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a snake? So if you, bad as you are, know enough to give your children what is good, how much more surely will your Father in heaven give what is good to those who ask him for it! Therefore, you must always treat other people as you would like to have them treat you, for this sums up the Law and the Prophets.

"Go in at the narrow gate. For the road that leads to destruction is broad and spacious, and there are many who go in by it. But the gate is narrow and the road is hard that leads to life, and there are few that find it.

"Beware of the false prophets, who come to you disguised as sheep but are ravenous wolves underneath. You can tell them by their fruit. Do people pick grapes off thorns, or figs off thistles? Just so any sound tree bears good fruit, but a poor tree bears bad fruit. No sound tree can bear bad fruit, and no poor tree can bear good fruit. Any tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and burned. So you can tell them by their fruit. It is not everyone who says to me 'Lord, Lord!' who will get into the Kingdom of Heaven, but only those who do the will of my Father in heaven. Many will say to me on that Day, 'Lord, Lord! Was it not in your name that we prophesied, and by your name that we drove out demons, and by your name that we did many mighty acts?' Then I will say to them plainly, 'I never knew you! Go away from me, you who do wrong!'

"Everyone, therefore, who listens to this teaching of mine and acts upon it, will be like a sensible man who built his house on rock. And the rain fell, and the rivers rose, and the winds blew, and beat about that house, and it did not go down, for its foundations were on rock. And anyone who listens to this teaching of mine and does not act upon it, will be like a foolish man who built his house on sand. And the rain fell and the rivers rose, and the winds blew and beat about that house, and it went down, and its downfall was complete.

When Jesus had finished this discourse, the crowds were astounded at his teaching, for he taught them like one who had authority and not like their scribes.

When Jesus came down from the mountain, great crowds of people followed him. And a leper came up to him and fell on his knees before him, saying,

"If you only choose, sir, you can cure me!"

So he stretched out his hand and touched him, saying,

"I do choose! Be cured!"

And his leprosy was immediately cured. Then Jesus said to him,

"See that you tell nobody, but go! Show yourself to the priest, and in proof of your cure, offer the gift that Moses prescribed."

When he got back to Capernaum, a Roman captain came up and appealed to him, saying,

"My servant, sir, is lying sick with paralysis at my house, in great distress."

He said to him,

"I will come and cure him."

But the captain answered,

"I am not a suitable person, sir, to have you come under my roof, but simply say the word, and my servant will be cured. For I am myself under the orders of others and I have soldiers under me, and I tell one to go, and he goes, and another to come, and he comes, and my slave to do something, and he does it."

SPORT
GRAMS

By FRANCIS W. READ

A well-known Los Angeles sport writer and critic comes out today with the prediction that California should win Saturday's brawl by a 13 to 0 score. We are inclined to believe that this is probably the most likely prediction that has been made as yet in regard to the outcome of the Cal. U. S. C. game. We have made it a standing rule in this column to refrain from predicting the results of any sporting events, because so often is the dope upset, and then we have to invent an alibi. We will stick to the old rule here, but at the same time express our opinion that the above mentioned prediction is the most plausible one made to date.

We are of the opinion that at the present time the California team looks slightly better than the Trojan outfit. It seems that injuries are bothering Henderson, especially Campbell's broken ribs. Then the Cardinal and Gold defense is not as good as that of the Bruins. Gloomy Gus has not a man who can run interference the way that Hobo Kincaid did last season. Henderson has tried to develop Chief Newman in this line, but the Indian is not able to fill Hobo's shoes. Without a man to run interference the Trojan scoring machine is handicapped to a great extent while the fact that the defensive is not all it could be is demonstrated by the fact that the U. S. C. eleven has been scored upon in every game it has played this season. Stanford, Washington (a big score) Nevada, Caltech and Pomona all crossed the Trojan goal line at least once. However, the Cardinal and Gold team is far from a weak outfit. Otto Anderson's kicking ability and the several good line plungers on the Trojan team make a formidable outfit.

As for Cal—the Golden Bear was humiliated by Nevada last Saturday to such an extent that he was ashamed of himself. Nevada held him to a 0 to 0 tie. It seems, however, that five of the best men of the Bruin team were out that day, and Andy Smith himself was out of town at Palo Alto watching the Cards perform. There is one thing certain about the game and that is that Smith will not use the same lineup he did against Nevada. He will play his first string men.

With two good kickers in Bluet and Witter, the Blue and Gold should have the edge in that department. Then with Spaulding, Dunn, Dixon, Nichols, Evans and the rest of the boys in the lineup all should be in great shape. The Bears usually make their own breaks and then follow them out. They have a good chance to win, all right. We say again that the prediction of a 13 to 0 victory for Cal, although not our own, is the most plausible prediction made to date.

HUSKIES LEADING ALL CONFERENCE TEAMS IN SCORES

University of Washington Has 208 Points to Season's Credit

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 7.—The University of Washington football team with 208 points leads all other Pacific Coast eleven in points scored to date this year, according to figures compiled by the Seattle, Wash., Times, announced today. Stanford with 184 points was second.

The Washington team is the only eleven on the coast which has not been either beaten or tied and is playing one of the heaviest schedules of any college in the country. It was also stated that only one man was missing today when the Husky squad reported for practice in preparation for their game with the University of Montana here next Saturday. Jim Bryan, left guard, was nursing a painful leg which he suffered in the Oregon Agricultural College game last Saturday at Corvallis. The regular team outside of Bryan was expected to start the game against Montana, but a number of the Husky substitutes will get into the battle as this is a conference game and it will give them a chance to earn their letters, it was announced.

LAIRD DEFEATS WOODS IN MATCH

Bob Laird, captain of this year's Glendale High school tennis team, defeated Tommy Woods in a good match played last Tuesday with a score of 6-2, 6-0. The match was especially important because they were playing for first man on the senior team. Last year Woods defeated Laird for third man on the team, but Bob has certainly strengthened during the summer, while Tommy has not been playing so much. An interesting fact in the tournament match was the accurate net playing by both men. Tommy has always been good at the net, but Laird beat him at his own game by passing the shots right passed him. Tommy seemed to take quite a while to warm up and came up well in the third set, taking it 6-2. Bob, however, settled down to business, and Woods became a little rattled in the fourth set, so Laird took it 6-0.

ever, it is doubtful as to whether Gordon Shoaf will be able to get back into the lineup by Monday. He is suffering from a badly wrenched ankle sustained at the hands of husky Frosh in a most bloody scrimmage a few nights back.

GLENDALE ELEVEN JOURNEYS TO ALHAMBRA

Dynamiters Play Alhambra Squad in League Game Tomorrow

"Pop" Hayhurst, coach of the Glendale High school footballers, will take his charges to Alhambra tomorrow afternoon to meet the High school squad of that city. Dope has it that the Dynamiters should clean up on the contest, but dope is never reliable and anything is liable to happen in football. For that reason Hayhurst is going into the game with all he has.

Alhambra fell to the Covina eleven last Friday by a count of 7 to 2. By this game the triple tie that had continued in the Central league standings was broken and Alhambra shoved down to second place, Covina remaining tied with Glendale for leadership. At the same time the Red and Black eleven took Monrovia into camp by the score of 24 to 0.

The Glendale eleven was never in better shape for a battle than it is at the present time. All the men on the hospital list have recovered and are now on active duty again. It is expected that a hot battle will take place, for Alhambra, spurred on by her defeat of last week, will fight hard and probably show a surprise or two.

A large delegation of Glendale rooters will accompany the team to Alhambra. That Glendale is backing its football team, a potential championship outfit, is easy to see. Several hundred students will journey to the scene of the battle to be on hand and view the game.

CUBS PREPARE FOR BULLDOGS ARMISTICE DAY

Southern Branch and Redlands Meet on Moore Field Monday

Disappointed, but not downhearted, Coach Jimmy Cline's "Fighting" Cub Varsity is preparing now for the next conference clash against the Redlands Bulldogs, which takes place on Moore field next Monday afternoon. Both teams are expected to put up a stiff battle to place themselves, in the percentage column of the Southern California Conference ratings.

The Bulldogs have not made a very impressive showing this season, having lost three games in which they have taken part by rather one-sided scores. Oxy first took them down the line by a 33 to 0 score; Pomona came along next and grabbed the second contest 27 to 6, and finally Cal Tech walloped them last Saturday 34 to 0.

The chief strength of the Red and Gray aggregation lies in their speedy backfield. In Taylor they have one of the best quarterbacks in the conference and the rest of the backs are all good men. Their line, however, is undoubtedly the weakest in Southern California and the teams that have played them so far have gone through the line like water through a sieve. But the Bulldogs are known as a team that never gives up and they have shown themselves always ready to take advantage of the breaks of the game.

Loren Peak, who has developed into a sensational fullback, hopes to have his two injured shoulders and one broken rib in good shape for the fracas, and if he goes in anywhere near good condition he will be better off than at any other time so far this season. Walt Westcott, who went into the Pomona game during the last quarter in spite of an injury that had kept

MIDGET ELEVEN MEETS ALHAMBRA THIS AFTERNOON

Paul "Nucca" Butterfield's lightweight footballers of Glendale High school lined up this afternoon on the local field against the Alhambra lightweight eleven. A large number of rooters from Alhambra, as well as the local rooters and spectators crowded the stands before the game was scheduled to start. From all indications the Glendale Midgets went into the fray with everything in their favor, and were decided favorites before the battle commenced. They have lost but one game this season and that by a very close score and have showed that they are of real championship material.

TRIPLE A LEAGUE OPENS ON SUNDAY

Glendale's Triple A League baseball team, managed by Mike Donlin, will start the season Sunday against the Palms-Culver City outfit at Palms. Several real ball players are in the local lineup and should put up a snappy line of the national pastime. Doc Crandal of the Angels and his brother Arnold, both first rate twiflers, have been signed up by the Glendale team. Arnold Crandal will probably start Sunday. His offerings will be received by Mickey O'Brien, a big league catcher.

By November 25th the new baseball park on South San Fernando road between Park and Palmer should be completed and ready for use. The fences are now nearly finished and work on the stands is in progress. One feature of this new winter league is that all teams will play in enclosed parks, something hitherto impossible in semi-pro games. Saturday the complete lineup of the Glendale team, as well as the entire schedule for the league, will be announced.

him out for two weeks, and played a wonderful game, should be back in and his leadership will be felt. Jeff Brown, who was injured in the second period of Saturday's game, will be ready to take Horace Breese's place again if Horace is unable to start on account of his bad arm, and Cece Hollingsworth will be ready to start if everything goes well.

BULL WRESTLES OLSEN HERE ON ARMISTICE DAY

But Santel Claims That Olsen Did Not Beat Him

Denying that "Swede" Olsen, who is to meet Bull Montana here on Armistice Day, defeated Ad Santel, Henry Weber, a manager for Santel, through the sport editor of the Press yesterday issued a challenge to Olsen to meet him here at any time the match can be arranged. Olsen is now in San Francisco, but is willing to come down here for the match, announced Weber, who states that he will put up a bond for Santel's appearance as soon as the match can be arranged. Weber stoutly denies that Olsen defeated Santel at any time and states that Santel says he can register sixty falls an hour against the "Swede." He makes this announcement through the columns of the Press in order to clear up any misunderstandings as to the situation.

Local fans will watch with interest the developments, in expectation of a match between Santel and Olsen. Santel has held the championship title and Olsen's asserted victory over him gave him quite a reputation in these parts. The Press does not assume responsibility for any statement in behalf of Santel, as Weber takes the responsibility for all claims.

Bull Montana, famous wrestler and motion picture actor, will be matched against Swede Olsen, known as the "Terrible Swede," in the main event of the Glendale Athletic club bouts on the evening of Armistice Day. Because of the fact that Monday is to be celebrated as Armistice Day, the bouts have been moved up from Tuesday to that day.

The record of the "Bul" is known to all followers of the mat

BOWLING PSENNER BOWLERS BEAT WEISS AND SON CANDY TEAM

Will Oxy's fighting Tigers be able to break up the wonderful passes of Fred Groat next Monday? That is the question which faces Coach Pipal and his cohorts when Occidental tangles with the Caltech Engineers in her next conference struggle. This game will have great bearing on the final outcome of the Southern California Conference standing, as both teams are making strong bids for the title and due to its importance the game will be staged in the famous Pasadena Rose Bowl, on Armistice day.

Coach "Fox" Stanton has this season developed the strongest team the Engineers have been able to boast of in years. Early in the season they went over to Boyard field and surprised everyone, especially U. S. C., by holding the powerful Trojan team to an 18-to-6 score. It was in this game that Groat first displayed his wares as a "Brick Muller," and the Pasadena line score came as a direct result of his long passes, which ranged from twenty to over fifty yards. Groat is aided in the backfield by Goldsmith at quarter, Alderman at full, and Foster at the other half, all experienced men, fast, ready and shifty. The Tech line is heavy and charges hard, Captain Moyle and Stein at tackles standing out conspicuously.

On the other hand, Oxy's line is not to be sneezed at. With such men as Garey, Creighton, Stevens and Wheeler doing their stuff, the Pasadena line will have to do some tail charging in order to make any gains in line bucking. Oxy's demon ends, Sprangler and Argue, who made life miserable for the Stanford backs a couple of weeks ago, will no doubt have the edge over the Caltech wingmen, Brunner and Herrington, while the Tiger backfield can take care of itself on most any occasion. However, the game will be a close one.

Olsen has a long string of victories to his credit. He has engaged in numerous matches all over the country and has won most of them. He claims to have defeated Ad Santel on April 8th at Great Falls, Montana.

The rest of the card for the Armistice Day fights will be announced shortly states Les Marston, matchmaker. It will include a number of high class boxing bouts. Probably several of the fighters who have appeared in the local ring recently will be slated to fight, while a few new faces should be seen on that night. Efforts to make the Armistice Day show the greatest ever staged by the club are being made by Marston and all connected with the project. The Tuesday night bouts have met with the hearty approval of the local fans and the club is greatly encouraged by their success.

CALTECH AND OXY IN ARMISTICE DAY BATTLE

"SO EASY"
Clutch Attachment for Chevrolet Cars

There is nothing so annoying or injurious as the constant grabbing of a clutch which has a tendency to lock the mechanical parts from the radiator to the rear end and is extremely unpleasant to the ones riding in the car. After this grabbing has taken place for a short time there is a likelihood of its tearing the whole rear end out, which is an unnecessary expense if you will only realize the clutch of any car needs occasional attention.
You will have a smooth, easy but positive action thereby saving yourself expensive repair bills and making riding a pleasure as the SO EASY makes a good clutch

ENGLISH SHUN
POOR SHOES

[By Associated Press]
LONDON, Nov. 23.—London stores will no longer exhibit cheap, shoddy and ill-fitting shoes; in their stead will be found the latest perfectly modelled lasts of Paris. The shoe manufacturers of England are generally agreed that the public avoid the shops that sell ill-fitting, shoddy footwear and would rather pay more money for shoes that wear well without causing physical disabilities. The result of the action of many manufacturers in putting cheap shoes on the market to meet the reduced spending power of the public, is that there are huge stocks of these shoes on hand which it is impossible to sell.

UNCLE SAM'S SEASONED SOLDIERS TAKE SWIMMING STREAM IN FULL FIELD EQUIPMENT AS A GOOD JOKE

This photograph was made while infantrymen stationed at Fort Snelling, Minn., were doing a "stunt" drill. Shouldering packs and heavy rifles, they took this swim on a chill October morning. Every one of the four pictured is smiling as though he enjoyed the dip.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

ACCEPTS NEW BUILDINGS
This morning members of the board of education visited the Acacia and Magnolia schools for the purpose of accepting the new buildings just completed.

ODDS AND ENDS

Deciding that, if the public wouldn't go to grand opera, grand opera must be taken to the public, the Carl Rosa company, the leading British grand opera organization, arranged to present scenes from operas at a huge Piccadilly circus restaurant. All the company's stars will participate and the regular costumes will be used.

What an awkward angel the average man would make.

AN ORIGINAL SPORT COAT

One of the most original sport coats is an imported model whose surface is completely covered with loops of beige yarn drawn through after the manner of a hooked rug. A collar and wide border of brilliantly colored wool is worked in the same way into a most distinctive design.

The salesman's temper was plainly suffering from the effects of the heat. Selling footwear is a trying occupation when the mercury is attempting to gush out of the top of the thermometer.

The portly dame who entered the shop was in the throes of a violent attack of hay fever, and her distress was acute.

"I want—ash-oo," she began, "I want—ash-oo—I—er—ash-oo."

The assistant frowned and drummed his fingers on the counter impatiently.

"I want—ash-oo!" she struggled bravely. "I want ash-oo!"

The man's short stock of temper came to an end with startling rapidity.

"Can't be done, madam, can't be done!" he said brusquely. "We only sell them in pairs."

OVERSTUFFED SUITES

We delivered a beautiful Mohair Overstuffed Suite over in Hollywood this week. The party said they had looked all over Los Angeles, Hollywood and the Western avenue district, but came here to buy. And why? Because we saved them money. Why don't you follow the example? Perhaps we have just what you want.

THE DRESS SHOE

"In the dress shoe the keynote is extravagance, there is no denying it," says a fashion authority. "The shoe itself is an exquisite creation of patent leather, kid, satin, brocade, gold or silver cloth, suede, anything rich and elegant, and often a combination of several of these. The design is just as elaborate as they have been with all sorts of straps and open effects and it seems that heels will be higher and toes more pointed and yet—the effect of the new showing is emphatically more conservative. Perhaps it is owing to the favor for black and soft colors; perhaps it is the perfection to which the lasts have been brought, whatever it be, it is undoubtedly there; the new dressy shoes are aristocrats."

DRIVEN OUT

Pride, hatred, envy, malice and the rest Of all that hateful crew—each is my guest If I will have it so, to fill my ears With evil whispers or to bring the tears Of bitter musings; they have driven mirth And joy and laughter from about my hearth And left me old and wrinkled and forsworn, A soul for God to pity, men to scorn.

They came with flattery and lies and guile, They fawned upon me with an evil smile Until I let them in, and when they crept Into my heart, the soul of Gladness wept And went away and Sorrow came and stood To see me in that wretched brotherhood, Nor Laughter would abide with me or Mirth, To hear them mumble curses at my hearth.

And one time when they mumbled in the night Love came to me with singing, and a light Held in her hand, bright as the sun at noon, And beautiful she was, as flowers in June; And Pride and Hatred, Envy and the rest Fled from her, East and South and North and West, And Joy came back and Sorrow left me then, Nor while Love staid the once came back again.

"STRANGERS OF THE NIGHT"

Meet Captain Applejack—"as mild a manner man as ever scuttled a ship." A pirate mystery drama, warmed with love, spiced with comedy, played by big stars. Laughter and terror in a wild race over the Spanish Main—wherein hearts are young and pirates bold and life's a dance of love and gold.

AT THE THEATRES

"Deuce of Spades" Is Great Card at the T. D. - L. Theater

Charles Ray is supported by a splendid cast in "The Deuce of Spades," which was adapted for screen purposes by Richard Andrews from the published story by the late Charles E. Van Loan. It is to be seen at the T. D. and L. theater. The part of the girl, a western type, is taken by Marjorie Maurie, who, as Marjorie Prevost, played with Ray in "The Old Swimmin' Hole."

Lincoln Plumer will be recalled as the unctuous druggist in "The Barnstormer." His part of the hotel keeper in "The Deuce of Spades" is even more humorous. Philip Dunham is a barber, postmaster and a most amusing character.

Andrew Arbuckle and Jack Richardson, both well known actors, appear with Charles Ray for the first time in his independent productions. They are a pretty pair of knaves, likeable if rascally.

J. P. Lockney as "Greasy Bill" certainly looks the part, while Gus Leonard as an old peddler, Bert O'ford in a dual role and William Courtright fill out a supporting cast which could hardly be equaled.

"Strangers of the Night" is now on at the Gateway. Fred Niblo's new production, "Strangers of the Night," now showing at the Gateway Theater, has a number of good laughs that the camera missed. "Where's the flypaper for Mr. Moore's eye?" asked Doran Cox, chief of Fred Niblo's staff. "Here," answered Harry Edwards, property man. "Where is Mr. Moore's eye?" "Here," said Matt Moore. "Where is the monocle?" Matt Moore's eye, flypaper and monocle were rapidly assembled. The player was required to wear a monocle as though it had grown in his eye. He admitted that Irish eyes don't grasp monocles well. Harry Edwards, to whom nothing is impossible, discovered that the tangloft of the flypaper is the most lasting glue that there is, and applied a little to the rim of the glass, and consequently Mr. Moore's Irish eye was surrounded by a circle of black. "Strangers of the Night" is adapted from the London and New York stage success, "Captain Applejack," by Walter Hackett. The scenario was prepared by Bess Meredith and the photoplay was in charge of Alvin Wyckoff.

MISS FIELDING GREAT ACTRESS AND GOOD SPORT

The real proof of an actor or actress is the ability to portray a character, mood or emotion entirely contrary to themselves in actual life. This is one of the reasons why Margaret Fielding must be given credit for achieving a remarkable bit of histrionism as Mabel, the cold and conventional wife of Mark Sabre in the William Fox photoplay version of "If Winter Comes."

"But, Mr. Millard," Miss Fielding reasoned, "how can I portray the phlegmatic Mabel, acting like an icicle toward Mark Sabre, when I am so fond of him?" "You are an actress, are you not?" Mr. Millard countered. "The challenge was too much for Miss Fielding. It aroused her sporting blood. "Of course I am," she expostulated, a little resentful of the implication.

Well, the upshot of the interview was that Margaret signed a contract, and how well she fulfilled it may be seen at the Glendale theater where "If Winter Comes" has been showing this week.

Mr. Johnson invariably made long calculations about anything important that happened in his life. He became engaged and his marriage was announced to take place on Thursday. One day he informed his future mother-in-law that it must be celebrated on a Wednesday.

"Why," she demanded in surprise. "I have been making a calculation," he said, "and I find that my silver wedding would take place on a Friday. That would never do, as it is the evening on which my lodge meets."

CALIFORNIA MAN IS APPOINTED AS ECONOMIST

Senator Tasker L. Oddie, chairman of the senate commission of gold and silver inquiry, announced today the appointment of Dr. John Parke Young of California as economist to take charge of the investigation of foreign currencies and exchange rates, which the commission is undertaking. The investigation, which has already commenced, will take the form of a study of the movement of the exchange and currency conditions of leading countries, with particular reference to the adverse effects of depreciating and fluctuating exchange upon our foreign trade and general economic conditions.

Dr. Young comes to the commission from the Economics department of Princeton university. He has had broad experience in investigation, conducted in foreign countries, of currency and exchange conditions. He is the author of a book on Central American finance now in the process of publication. During the war period he was an examiner with the federal trade commission engaged in economic work in connection with the iron and steel investigation. Dr. Young is a graduate of Occidental college, Los Angeles, and holds an A. M. from Columbia University and a Ph. D. from Princeton University, where he subsequently taught courses in economics and finance.

In the course of the investigation, Dr. Young will confer with economists, foreign exchange bankers, and other experts in the field of international finance, in the endeavor to make the report, which will be published some time next spring, comprehensive and generally useful.

Among the questions which will be the subject of special study are the following: The large issues of inconvertible paper money in the different countries, backed by messenger metallic reserves; the inflation and deflation of credit and currency; changes in price levels; government debts, revenues and expenditures; foreign trade balances; also the effect of political conditions upon exchange rates.

POSTAGE ON LETTER FROM BERLIN TAKES HIGH MARKS

Judge Harry W. Chase on Wednesday received a letter from Berlin, Germany, to the envelope of which was affixed 15,000,000 marks in stamps to carry it across the ocean, that is three stamps of 5,000,000 marks each. Before the war the value of these stamps would have been close to $4,000,000 and at that time the postage between Germany and the United States was the equivalent of 5 cents.

"If Winter Comes" is the one-time-in-a-hundred film you can't make any mistake going to see. You will if you remain away.—GUY PRICE, Herald.

"If Winter Comes" is a translation so pulsing with life, so natural, so vivid, so glowingly human, that one feels that one knows at last what the screen is for.—GRACE KINGSLEY, The Times.

Motor Co. to Make Its Own Armature Wire

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 30.—Because outside manufacturers failed to meet specifications for wire used in winding armatures of starter generators used on Ford cars, the Ford Motor company has itself gone into the wire manufacturing business. This new industry at the Highland Park plant, though not yet in full production, is at present turning out every day some 70 miles of fine insulated copper wire. The making of 6,500 generators units daily calls for the absolute standardization of parts, particularly wire size. If the wire winding on the armatures is slightly off size, or if the insulating cover is a bit thick or irregular, either the winding will not fit in the armature segments or lower generator efficiency will result.

So, with outside wire not giving 5 full satisfaction, the company determined to make its own, and improvements and simplification of standard wire making machinery have placed this plant ahead of almost any others in quality and economy.

One interesting drawing operation is where the wire passes through eight diamonds, each reducing the size a few thousandths of an inch. The cost of each diamond may run as high as $300 and it takes several days of continuous drilling with diamond dust to pierce one. They can be used about six months without appreciable wear.

Cotton, used for the wire covering, is also made by the company from England. The new wire, which in every way meets the high standards of Ford manufacture, has brought a general improvement in the production of starter generators.

Superintendent Richardson D. White is today attending a conference of school superintendents at Santa Monica.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 175 K Marcellus Avenue, Manassas, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured who may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Adv.
